

Adult Guidance

This news story mentions that some children get free school meals, and discusses how the voucher scheme helps 'those in need' get meals during the summer holidays. This might bring up questions or potentially difficult conversations about free school meals, why some children get them and why others don't.

As the teacher, parent or carer, you are best placed to know your child or class's context and therefore what is appropriate to share. Please use your professional judgement when sharing and discussing this news story.
